BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN.

R. B. BARGER,—Proprietor.

W. W. BROWN,.....Editor.

Terms: $2.00 Per Annum in Advance.

BELLEFONTE, PA.,

Wednesday Morning, April 10th, 1872.

MONEY MONEY.

We have a word to say to our readers, not to that portion of them, that always punctually pay up; but to that class who take the paper year in, and year out, and never think of paying the printer. They act as if they never intended to pay, so long at least, as they can get the paper without paying. Now, with us this practice is "played out." We want our money and we intend to have it. Pay up gentleman or stop taking the REPUBLICAN. Pay up the old score, and we will again trust you. We have sent bills to nearly every patron in arrears, and yet you heed them not. This cannot go on forever.

We also, hereby notify all candidates who owe us for printing tickets during the last three years, to call and settle their accounts, between this and the April court, or we will immediately after the adjournment of the Court, place their accounts in the hands of a Justice of the Peace for collection. We want our money and we intend to have it. If there is no virtue in duns, we will have to try what there is in law. We think men who wish their fellow men to work for them and honor them, should be willing to pay their legitimate printers bills.

All persons indebted for Job work will please call—settle and pay up.

IS HE WILFULLY IGNORANT?

THE Bellefonte Republican failing to make an impression upon its readers by tariff articles attempts it by cartoons. That party having had the government in its hands, entirely, for ten years past, and now its organs crying about tariff, is ridiculous.—Centre Hall Reporter.

What a pity it is that some men will write upon subjects of which they are entirely ignorant. It is a greater pity that such men should thrust themselves upon the people as newspaper men, or editors. In penning the above paragraph, Mr. Kurtz proves himself either fool or knave. He says: "That party having had the government in its own hands entirely for ten years past, and now its organs crying about tariff is ridiculous." He does not tell his readers that among the very first things done by the Republican party when it obtained full control of the Government was to pass the tariff of 1861—the highest and best tariff law ever enacted in this country. He fails to tell his readers that the unprecedented prosperity of the farmer, mechanic, laboring man and of all the varied interests of this country are attributable to the successful working of the Republican tariff. He also fails to tell his readers, that the free trade league and the Democratic party, working in the interest of English Capitalists, and paid for their labor in English gold, have been working indefatigably both in and out of Congress to have the Tariff of 1861 reduced, or if possible, entirely repealed. He takes especial care to keep his readers in ignorance of these facts and of the great effort which was made by revenue reformers, democrats and British agents to have the tariff reduced on pig iron from $9,00 to $5,00 per ton. He also takes especial care to say nothing in regard to the Resolution of Senator Jno. Scott, removing the duty from tea and coffee and placing it on the free list. Both Houses have agreed to place tea and coffee on the free list, thus proving that we were correct when, a few weeks since, we said:

"It is the judgment of the country that it is "best to let the tariff alone after taking off the "duty on tea and coffee. We want no other re-"ductions."

The action of Congress proves that we read the desires of the people correctly, in making that statement, and for the enlightenment of Mr. Kurtz we would state that the reason the friends of the protective policy desire the duties taken off tea and coffee, is that they are not grown in this country and that, therefore, duties upon these articles, benefit no great American interest. The great object of the Protective tariff men is to build up and strengthen American manufactories and American labor, and thus give every farmer a market for his produce at his own door. Why do the Democracy and the free trade league oppose these doctrines? Do you call it "ridiculous" on the part of the Republican party to oppose these anti-American organizations in their unholy crusade against the Republican tariff of 1861? Tell the whole truth, Fred, and "shame the devil."

FORNEY'S PRESS.

"NOW YOU SEE IT, AND NOW YOU DON'T."

"Quit then my office, scoundrel! and be gone"
"I dare not do it," said the affrighten'd John.
"What fearest thou, driveller! can thy fancy tell?"
"I doubt," said John—"I'm sure there is a hell!
"No question, wretch! thy foot is on the door;"
"To be in hell, thou fool! is to be poor:
Wilt thou consent?"

What is wrong with Forney's Philadelphia Press? is the question propounded to us at least half a dozen times every day. We meet a wise, cunning lawyer, and with apparent amazement, mingled with disgust he asks us, "What is wrong with Forney's Press? We are met by the honest intelligent, Republican farmer, or mechanic and the same question is asked, "What is wrong with Forney's Press?" Up to the present writing we have invariably failed to answer the question. There is something the matter with "John;" but just what that something is, we do not profess to know, as he has not yet favored us with the secret. It is not poverty, of this we are right certain, for he learned long since that "To be in hell, is to be poor." It is not the Cincinnati Convention which troubles him, of this we are fully convinced, because Greely is said to be favorable to that abortion, and Forney never did like Greeley. He hated Greeley; but his hatred of James Buchanan and slavery was more intense; hence he became a Republican, and has been a very good member of the organization from that day until within the last few months, when he coqueted with Aleck McClure after said Aleck had fully made up his mind to reform himself, and then become the leader of Reformers. Lack-a-day! Alas! But this cannot be an answer to the question. The last copy of the Press was strongly in favor of Grant. What it will be to-morrow who can tell? Forney has never expressed a desire to leave the Republican party. He has never yet said "my foot is on the door." Not he. He is too sound for that. He believes "there is a hell" and that he might as well go there at once as into the Democratic party. Between Forney and that party there is "a great Gulph." He cannot go to it if he would, and if he could, he has often said he "would see them d——d first."

Now, we have no disposition to enter into a quarrel with Col. Forney, or to do, or say anything, that would destroy the little remaining influence, which the Phila. Press may yet have with the country press and with the honest upright people of the rural districts. But we are compelled, from motives of pure and disinterested friendship, and the duty we owe the great Republican party, to inform Col. Forney that unless he calls a "Halt" and that right speedily,—unless he changes his course from what it has been for the last three months and goes to work, earnestly, energetically, enthusiastically to work for Republican men and Republican measures, he will find none so poor as to do him reverence, and no supporters for his Press, except a few sore-head Republicans, and the meanest and most prejudiced class of the Democratic party to wit; copperheads and rebels.

What is wrong with Forney's Press? Has he, like Greely, reached his dotage? Or has he become so egotistical, so full of self as to believe that he is the only honest man in the Republican party? Has he made up his mind to remain in the party, labor for Gen. Grant and drive every other member of the organization away from him? "Now you see it, and now you don't." Col. Forney it appears can see no virtue in Philadelphia, or Pennsylvania politicians outside the ring that swears allegiance to his standard and follows in every particular his ipse dixit.

It is supremely ridiculous to hear him advocate reform, purity and honesty in politics and at the same time proclaim A. K. McClure as the leader of the Reformers. It is, moreover, disgusting to the people to read the articles in the Press, calling the members of the Legislature "small men" and threatening them with inevitable defeat when candidates for re-election, unless they pay homage to Forney and vote for all the fool monstrosities, in the garb of Police Bills, &c., offered by his model reformer—A. K. McClure.

What is wrong with Forney's Press? It has by its course lost us the majority in the State Senate, and it has not one word to say against Buckalew and the other majority members of the Gray-McClure committee who admitted McClure and ousted Gray, notwithstanding they were sworn to do justice between these two [illegible]. We do [illegible] perjured themselves. Do not misunderstand us. But what have you to say Col. Forney in regard to this matter?

Although your course is a mystery to us, we never have heard any one charge you with being a coward. And yet the course you have pursued in relation to the Gubernatorial candidates whose names will this day be presented to the State Convention, would almost lead us to believe that you are not only a coward but a hypocrit as well. For six months the name of that pure and competent man and brave soldier, Gen, Jno. F. Hartranft, has been prominently before the people as a candidate for Governor, subject to the will of the Delegates in State Convention assembled.—Other good men were named for the same high honor. All this time the Press is silent. It expresses no preference, until the 6th inst., when it aroused from its "Rip-Van-Winkle" sleep to learn that Gen. Hartranft has 90 of the 133 delegates and is therefore certain of the nomination. It then declares this to be the work of the politicians. Where was Forney and his Press that they did not sooner warn the people and endeavor to thwart the tricks of the "party managers?" The fact is, that Forney knew he was penning a willful falsehood when he asserted that Gen. J. F. Hartranft was not the peer of "Ketchum, Lilly, Packer, Jordon, &c." Why did Forney wait to express his opinion until a few days before the convention? "As there can be no such thing as the suppression of free discussion, we hope more than one voice will be raised" in the convention at Harrisburg, to-day, to teach Col. Forney and his satellites a lesson that they will not soon forget.—Teach them that the people and not the "party managers," are the friends of Gen. Hartranft.

Col. Forney you are a smart man.—You are an intellectual giant, a fluent talker, an able and powerful writer; but without principle you are as "sounding brass, and without honor," you are as weak and helpless as Sampson when shorn of his locks. If you would be strong, you must not mistake for journalistic independence, that spirit which sometimes prompts men to pry into their neighbors business, and into their neighbors confidence, solely for the purpose of exposing all the business foibles, or betraying the confidence of those neighbors, and heralding them to the world If you would be a leader of the Republican party, you must be brave you must be consistant, you must be true to Republican men. You must help to make public sentiment, not lag behind and remain quiescent, until the country press and the people have done the work, and then step in and claim all the glory, or vice versa that the "party managers" have done it.

SPEAKING OUT.

The Standard (a Democratic paper,) published at Williamsport, in speaking of the result of the election in Connecticut, says:

"The 'passive policy' has had a fair trial in Connecticut—where a fair and square Democratic issue would have prevailed a tub was thrown to the 'liberal Republican' whale and he has proved, what we always maintained he was, a myth. Now let our conventions give us back the good old doctrines and unadulterated Democratic candidates, let us have a fair fight against the corruptionists, and we can and will elect our President."

The Standard as will be seen has very little faith in "liberal Republicans" and coudoles over the defeat of his party in Connecticut, by admitting that the Democrats sacrificed their principles in that State for the sake of obtaining the "loaves and fishes" of office. The Standard now demands "good old Democratic doctrines and unadulterated Democratic candidates." This of course means the endorsement of Jefferson Davis, the late rebellion, the restoration of slavery, &c. We know that a majority of the Democrats in this county will endorse the Standard's doctrine.—We have heard quite a number of intelligent Democrats, here, declare, that if the Democratic party united or fused with the Liberal Republicans at Cincinnati, they would openly espouse the cause of President Grant. But we will see.

DECLINED.—We are informed that Hon. Wm. H. Armstrong has refused to be a candidate for the Supreme Judgship. If this be so, our Representative and Senatorial delegate will vote for Judge Williams of Tioga County. The Northern counties should have this honor. They have always been faithful, and that without official reward.

LABOR AND CAPITAL.

The following sensible remarks on labor ann capital, we clip from the Phila. Commercial List and Price Current.—We commend them to the thoughtful consideration of our readers: "Men talk of labor and capital as if they were two essentially different things. They are in fact essentially one. If a man builds a factory, puts in machinery, buys raw material, puts in workmen, he is said to have invested his capital. The whole establishment is capital. If it pays the whole expense of running, including materials, wear and tear, and wages, and then something over and above, that surplus is called earnings.—It is regarded as fresh capital.

Now a man is a grand manufactory. His head furnishes power; his hands feet and muscles are machinery. Every man is in himself capital. If it costs to run the machine all that it earns he will never have surplus capital. If he lives on one-half of his earnings, then his invested capital, that is, his bodily organization, produces so much surplus capital.

A day laborer who saves three dollars a week is a capitalist. If he puts his savings into a horse and dray, or into a chest of tools, or into a candy shop, he reinvests; and now his capital is primarily, his own productive force—that is, himself; and secondarily these new means of carrying on business. Every step by which he rises from poverty to competence is in the direction of augmented capital.

Every prosperous workingman is proof to himself that there is no need of conflict between labor and capital.

But suppose a man to have gained by industry enough money to buy two horses and two drays? He cannot drive both of them himself. He hires a man. Now, he is not only a laborer, but an employer.

If his business increases till he owns twenty or thirty teams, all his time will be devoted to superintendence; he will do head-work and hire the hand-work.

In each step upward his relations to his laborers are just and beneficent.—The interests are reciprocal. There is no mystery or complexity about it. All the talk about the normal and abnormal relations of capital to labor is needless. Capital may undertake to do things prejudicial to the common weal, and require to be restrained, and so just as much may labor.

Of course the employer should keep his agreements, and pay at the time provided. Labor, on the other hand, should keep its agreement, and render fair work for a fair price. But there are some practical suggestions of value.

Payments to laboring men should be at short intervals, especially when the men have families dependent upon them. It is better to pay in money than in goods or orders. The temptation to make double profits on inferior goods leads selfish men to take advantage of their "hands." Although a payment by orders may secure better goods sometimes than the men would buy for cash, yet, on the other hand, it leads to carelessness and shiftless management in the family. It is the interest of every employer that his men should be intelligent, thrifty, and good managers in the household. It is his interest, even if he works by no higher principle, to deal justly, promptly and liberally with all his workmen.

THE majority of the committee on the contested election case of McClure vs. Gray reported last week in favor of Col. McClure, and he was sworn in as Senator for the Fourth district. The minority of the committee (all Republicans) reported that while frauds were proven in certain precincts, yet they were not sufficient to overcome Gray's majority, and therefore McClure was not entitled to the seat.

The decision of the majority was reached by throwing out the returns of ten precincts entire, which Mr. Buckalew declared, in his report in the Dechert case last year, could not legally be done.

Mr. Buckalew's report in the McClure case may be right; but his report in the Dechert case last year was an outrage for which there can be no just excuse. In that case frauds of the most startling nature were charged and admitted by friends of Col. Dechert. Yet Mr. Buckalew, by his report, refused to permit even an investigation, and by a technical objection, backed by a Democratic Senate, retained Dechert in a seat to which he was learly not entitled.—His course in the present case only presents more forcibly the outrage perpetrated last year. * * *.—Beaver Radical, 5th inst.

MINISTER CURTIN.

It is rumored and presisted in that Andrew G. Curtin is coming home to take part in the Presidential election against Grant. To do that would of course be to array himself against the Republican party, because Grant is now the central figure of the organization, around which its force for victory is gathered, and by which indurance is insured. It matters not what our prominent men may desire or do, the people have willed the re-nomination and re-election of Grant, and for this they are resolved to strive to a logical conclusion, despite the plots and denunciations of faithless leaders and ambitious demagogues. Minister Curtin, we are satisfied, is in no way in sympathy with the Sumners, and Schurzs and Trumbulls, and from what we know of the man, we are certain he will not allow himself to be dragged into an intrigue of mischief merely to satisfy the malevolent hates of men with whom he never had any cordial association. But even if he were willing to be thus used, when he reaches his native State, he will find here a solid and enthusiastic Republican organization, resolved to sustain the President. The Republican masses of Pennsylvania are ardently attached to Andrew G. Curtin. They love him because he did his duty while Governor, and because he adhered to the principles which are regarded so essential to the peace and prosperity of the nation. But is it likely that a party of intelligent men, who feal the importance of political victory for the right, and understand fully what they now purpose to do, would allow themselves to be dragooned and forced or lured from their preference and position by any man? Not exactly! The same hearty, frank feeling, which turns the Republican heart to Curtin, rivets it to Grant, will hold it there, and force each to do full duty to the other, just as it did in the case of [illegible], when, if the mere politicians had had their will satisfied, he would have failed to get recognition; but the people were true to him as they now are to Grant, and the people are determined not to be misled.

—We indulge these observations merely to show what is public sentiment, not to warn Minister Curtin as to his course when he returns home, because we are as well satisfied that he is and will be true to the Republican party, its measures and its men, as we are that Grant is true to himself. Curtin is not the man to commit political hari-kari. He has no disappointments to avenge, no wrecks to deplore. If any of his personal friends are in this condition, we see no reason why Curtin should sacrifice himself to secure their hopeless political salvation.—State Journal.

"UNCLE JAKE" ZEIGLER, in a recent number of his paper, the Butler Democratic Herald, speaks of Auditor General Hartranft and State Treasurer Mackey, in the following highly flattering terms: "It is unnecessary for us to say aught in reference to the Heads of these Departments. We are opposed politically to both General Hartranft, the Auditor General; and Mr. Mackey, State Treasurer, but if a disposition on the part of a public official to extend to all who visit on business the offices over which these gentlemen preside, is to be commended, then we think our estimate of them is not fulsome flattery, nor the result of interested motives. It looks to us as if Gen. Hartranft would be the nominee of the Radical party for Governor, and if he is, he will command the full support of his party. We of course will do our utmost in favor of whoever the Democratic party may nominate, but in case of a failure to succeed, which we sincerely hope may not occur, there will be no mean consolation in the fact of the election of a gentleman in the person of Gen. Hartranft.

LONDON, April 8.—Dispatches from Syra state that on the 3rd inst., the city of Antioch was almost entirely destroyed by an earthquake, which continued at intervals during the entire day.

Upwards of 1,500 persons perished, being instantly killed by the falling buildings.

The whole city is in ruins, scarcely a building being left standing.

THE Baltimore American says the present Administration is "an Administration of ideas," the most prominent of which is the idea that it wouldn't be safe just at present to restore the Democratic party to power—an idea which also commands the approbation of the people, if recent elections furnish a criterion.

CREEDS OF THE BELLS.

BY GEO. W. BUNGAY.

How sweet the chimes of Sabbath bells;
Each one its creed in music tells,
In tones that float upon the air,
As soft as song, as pure as prayer;
And I will put in simple rhyme
The language of the gentle chime.
  My happy heart with rapture swells
  Responsive to the bells—sweet bells.

"In deeds of love excel, excel,"
Chimed out from ivied tower a bell.
"This is the church not built on sands,
Emblem of one not built with hands;
Its forms and sacred rites revere—
Come worship here, come worship here;
  In ritual and faith excel, excel,"
  Chimed out the Episcopalian bell.

"Oh, heed the ancient landmarks well!"
In solemn tones exclaimed a bell.
"No progress made by mortal man
Can change the just, eternal plan—
With God there can be nothing new—
Ignore the false, embrace the true,
  While all is well, is well, is well,"
  Pealed out the good old Dutch church bell.

"To all the truth we tell, we tell,"
Shouted in ecstasies a bell;
"Come all ye weary wanderings, see,
Our Lord has made salvation free;
Repent believe, have faith, and then
Be saved and praize the Lord, Amen!
  Salvation's free, we tell, we tell,"
  Shouted the Methodistic bell.

"Ye purifying waters swell,"
In mellow tones rang out a bell;
"Through faith alone in Christ can save
Man must be plunged beneath the wave,
To show the world unfaltering faith
In what the sacred Scripture saith.
  Oh swell! ye rising waters, swell!"
  Pealed out the clear toned Baptist bell.

"Not faith alone, but works as well,
Must test the soul," said a soft bell;
"Come here and cast aside your load,
And work your way along the road,
With faith in God, and faith in man,
And hope in Christ, where hope began;
  Do well, do well, do well, do well,"
  Pealed forth a Unitarian bell.

"Farewell, farewell, base world, farewell,"
In warning notes exclaimed a bell;
"Life is a boon to mortals given,
To fit the soul for bliss in heaven.
Do not invoke the avenging rod;
Come here and learn the will of God.
  Say to the world farewell, farewell,"
  Pealed out the Presbyterian bell.

In after life there is no hell!"
In raptures rang a cheerful bell.
"Look up to heaven this holy day,
Where angels wait to cheer the way;
There are no fires, no floods to blight
The future life; be just and right.
  No hell! no hell! no hell! no hell!"
  Rang out the Universalist bell.

"The pilgrim fathers heeded well
My cheerful voice," pealed forth a bell.
"No fetters here to clog the soul:
No arbitrary creeds control
The free heart and progressive mind,
That leave the dusty past behind.
  Speed well, speed well, speed well, speed well."
  Pealed out the Independent bell.

"No Pope, no Pope to doom to hell
The Protestant!" rang out a bell;
"Great Luther let his fiery zeal,
Within the hearts that truly feel
That loyalty to God will be
The fealty that makes men free.
  No images where incense fell!"
  Rang out old Martin Luther's bell.

"All hail, ye saints in heaven that dwell
Close by the cross!" exclaimed a bell,
"Lean o'er the battlements of bliss,
And deign to bless a world like this;
Let mortals kneel before this shrine—
Adore the water and the wine.
  All hail, ye saints, the chorus swell!"
  Chimed in the Roman Catholic bell.

"Ye workers who have toiled so well
To save the race," said a sweet bell,
"With pledge and badge and banner come,
Each brave heart bearing like a drum.
For love is holier than creeds,
  Drink from the well, the well, the well,"
  In rapture rang the Temperance bell.

And yet another sect, there fell—
The Quaker—needing not a bell.
There is a faith—without a creed;
The "still small voice" alone they heed;
Believing this can wisdom speak,
They sit in silence week by week.
  They knew the hour for "Meeting" well—
  They need no bell, no bell, no bell.

AN ODD FIX.

When it came at last to asking Samuel Rowley's consent to pay my address to his ward, I knew it was all over with me. I felt that it was all over directly I was shown into the library, where Samuel Rowley sat before the fire toasting his gouty feet, and reading his Times newspaper. I felt it was so completely all over with me, that I would very gladly have backed myself out of the room without entering into any particulars as to the object of my visit. I would have cheerfully informed him that I was an agent for Boshiter's Hair Restorer, and had called with a sample, which might be returned if not approved after one day's rubbing. But he knew me, and I knew him. He understood perfectly well why I had solicited the honor of an interview with him at twelve o'clock, A. M.; he was a sharp old gentleman, who had his eyes on me for some time, and was not to be imposed upon.

He said, "Take a seat Mr.—— I forget your name;" and then he fumbled with his glasses, and referred to my polite epistle which lay on the table near him.

I took a seat and nursed my hat. I perspired a little. I had a tremulous motion of my knees come on, which made me look ridiculous. I waited for him to begin, but he did not. I began myself, after one or two secret encounters in my throat with a something which felt very much like a cork out of a soda water bottle.

"You are not aware—that is, you cannot but be aware—that I have long regarded your ward Clara with—did you speak, sir?"

"No, sir, I did not speak."

He had given an awful cough of a double-knock character, that was all. He kept his glasses on his nose and focused me, and the operation was unpleasant. He was not pleasant in his reception of my statement either; he was decidedly unpleasant, not to say desperately disagreeable. But then he was a cross-ill-grained old fellow; everybody knew it in Wolverston, and I have no particular reason to disguise it here.

I recommenced my statement; I poured forth the best feelings of my heart, and with an eloquence that might have melted adamant, I confessed to him that Clara was my one ambition. As I have said already, I knew that it was all over with me, but I was poetic even in the midst of my despairing conciousness.

Mr. Rowley set aside his newspaper, drew his chair an inch or two closer to me, put his great hands—rather disposed to be gouty, like his feet—upon his knees, and surveyed me from head to foot contemptuously.

"May I ask your age, young man?" he said.

This was my weak point of defense, but I told him.

"Seventeen."

"And how did you first become acquainted with my Clara, who is a year your junior, the hussy?"

"Well, Mr. Rowley, it has been a long attachment; my finishing school at Beesborough was situated opposite her finishing school, and we saw each other at church; and I think—"

"I think you both ought to be horse-whipped!" he said fiercely, interrupting me; "and as to my consent to Clara's engagement to a boy like you, I will even go so far as to say whipper-snapper like you—"

"A whipper-snapper, sir!"

"I repeat it, a whipper-snapper!" cried old Rowley, growing very red and apoplectic in appearance. "I decline to listen to your preposterous proposal for one instant. Clara is only sixteen, and does not know her own mind—she is a mere child."

"But we shall both grow older, Mr. Rowley."

"Ah, and more sensible, I hope. Good morning."

"Good morning, sir."

I did not wait to tell him of my expectations from my grandmother, or to reason with him on his want of justice and consideration. I went away crest-fallen and heart-broken. I dashed from the library in despair, and brought my forehead against that of my beloved with a concussion that was nearly the means of stretching our senseless forms outside the tyrant's den, the victims of his cruel obduracy. Clara, naturally interested in the result of my interview with her guardian had forced her pure but anxious soul to listen at the library key-hole. I had retired in haste, and floored her.

"Oh, my gracious!" she sobbed forth, "I did not know you were coming out like that! Oh, my head! Oh, how dreadful! Oh, Alphouse, we must part forever!"

She rested her head on my shoulder, and shed many tears. I kissed away her tears; I patted her head fondly, keeping clear of the bumps which I had raised there. I could scarcely see her golden hair for tears myself—the water had risen into my eyes immediately we had met each other. I sought to calm her emotion. I bade her be firm, and recommended vinegar and brown paper for her damaged brow. I said that I should try them myself when I got home. I told her that I would rather die than relinquish her; she said the same thing in a burst of uncontrollable emotion; we renewed our vows of eternal fidelity, and tore ourselves from each other's arms, crushed in spirit, but strong yet to resist unjust oppression.

I told all my troubles to Jack Edwards, my bosom friend and adviser. Jack and I had been school-fellows together; we were going into the medical profession together presently; my father had resolved that I should walk the hospital instead of the rosy path of love. Jack heard my story, and said that he would not have stood half of Rowley's nonsense; but what he would have done under the circumstances he did not reveal to me at the time, and I forgot to ask him afterwards.

Clara and I met clandestinely. We were lovers—we had been lovers from our youth—the flinty heart of a guardian who had outlived the mortal passion was not to stand between our fresh young souls.

I met Clara in the village; I scaled the park fence and met her in the green wood, and Jack, good fellow, kept watch on the door of the Hall and old Rowley's library windows with a telescope, lest we should be surprised at any moment. Clara and I passed much of our time talking of what we should do when she came into her property at twenty-one, and my grandmother favored me by departing from this earthly sphere; but it was a sharp winter, and our teeth chattered over our prospects. Clara and I used to arrange our meetings in this wise. Clara had a confidant in the game-keeper, Peter Stokes, an invaluable man, with a weakness for tobacco, and with a heart all charity for his fellow creatures. Peter was always getting up subscriptions for his fellow-creatures in the village; and what with his subscriptions and his tobacco—I kept him entirely in tobacco—my pocket money knew but little rest. Still he had a good heart, and was kind to us. He took charge of our correspondence, which was carried on by a circumlocutory but sure process. Clare gave it to her maid Selina, another confidant—who, alas! proved herself a perfidious snake—and Selina entrusted it to Peter, who took it to a guarded monarch of the forest—an oak tree, in fact—and concealed it from all human gaze in a small hollow cavity some ten feet from the ground, where at a later hour I found it and deposited my answer, to be conveyed by the same process into my dearest Clara's hands.

Peter was a lank old man, and very wiry he could climb a tree like a squirrel, and I was agile myself. The whole conception was romantic, if you will, but grand! I thought so—Clara thought so—Peter thought so. The idea was from Millias picture, which we had both carefully studied; and if Peter had not generally deposited his small notes to myself, at the same time asking my "kind considerashun, as a gentleman born with a warm heart, to an afflicting case in the parish," the romance would have been pure and unalloyed.

Clara defied the obdurate guardian for two months; it was February when Selina Muggins betrayed us. I was advancing in an innocent and unsuspecting manner to the secret post office in the wood, half a mile from Mr. Rowley's house, when I became conscious of the whole perfidy. I was close upon the tree—that brave old oak which had held so many secrets—when voices in another direction filled my soul with horror. They were the voices of Samuel Rowley, Esq., J. P. and Peter Stokes, my Mercury. I sank down in the long grass—there was a rapid thaw that morning, and the damp struck to me at once—and trembled for my love. I was not an instant too soon; their footsteps were upon me. Mr. Rowley's right foot was nearly upon me also; he shaved my features by a hair's breadth, and passed on. The harsh tones of his voice rang in my ears an instant afterward.

"You don't consider yourself an abominable scamp, I suppose," Mr. Rowley said, "an unprincipled old vagabond, to act as go-between to a silly school-girl and that idiot of a boy. You never thought of the harm of encouraging this, did you?"

"I'm werry sorry, sir," wimpered Peter.

"Teaching my ward to be deceitful for the sake of a few sixpences, I suppose."

"I've never had a ha'penny, your honor, much more a sixpence."

Neither had he. They were generally half-crowns he was in the habit of receiving from me.

"You deserve to be kicked out of my service, Stokes—drummed out of the village for a wicked old hypocrite!"

"They were werry fond of each other, sir, and Miss Clara used to ask me so beseechingly; and when I told her there was harm in writing to Master Huskisson without her dear gardewan's knowing anything about it, she allers said it was for the last time, sir—really."

"If it was not for your age, Stokes, I'd send you about your business this very day."

"I'm werry sorry, sir," Stokes said again, shedding many tears.

"Is this the tree?"

"Yes, sir, in that's the tree."

"And Clara's last letter is up there now, eh? In that hole? Now, no more lies!"

"Yes, sir, in that hole."

[illegible]

"Master Huskisson climbs up there sir, for his answer. I'll go up and fetch down Miss Clara's letter in a minit."

There was a small epistle of his own he wished to obtain as well, perhaps, or it was possible that his noble mind had suggested some scheme to save dear Clara's missive from sacrilegious eyes. But Mr. Rowley suspected his old servitor.

"Stop where you are, Stokes!" he roared forth. "I'll have no more of your monkey tricks. Give me a back."

"Give you a wot, sir?"

"Back your back, you rascal, and I'll jump on it and get the letter myself."

"Jump on it!" repeated Stokes, with a look of dismay at Mr. Rowley's portly figure; "it don't strike me that I can bear your weight, Master."

"It will be only for a minute," said Mr. Rowley, quite brutally; "and if I break your back it will serve you right enough. I'm not an elephant man, and I will have no more of this nonsese."

Mr. Stokes resisted no further. He made his back as if to commence a game of leap frog with a justice of the peace; and with more agility than I had give Mr. Rowley credit for, the guardian was aloft and within an inch or two of our letter-box.

"O, lor! shall you be long, sir?" asked Mr. Stokes, groaning softly to himself.

"Raise your shoulder, you rascal, a little more," cried his employer.

Stokes did so, and from my hiding-place I saw the hand of Mr. Rowley strive with some difficulty—for it was a fat, gouty hand, I have already said—to force itself into that casket, which had contained so many of my dear Clara's epistles. Samuel Rowley was an excitable man; for he swore a little in his efforts, and turned very red, and moved his feet restlessly upon poor Stokes' back.

"I have got it!" he cried at last.

"The artful jade, the cunning, plotting little minx, to serve her own guardian in this—O!"

"What's the matter, sir?"

"Wait a moment, Stokes—don't shake. O, lor, have mercy upon us. O, damn it! O, dear, what is to be done?"

"Is anything partickler the matter sir? Not a ladder, I hope, or a nest of sarpents, or anything?" and old Stokes hid his head a little more—tucking in his two penny we call it at school—to conceal his laughing and sardonic countenance.

"No, Stokes; its something much worse I'm sorry to say."

"Wus, sir?" said Stokes, who left off laughing immediately.

"Yes! I—can't get my hand out."

"The devil you can't, sir!" cried Stokes, in dismay.

"It's twisted somehow, or swollen, or the wood has gripped me. Wait a moment, Stokes—O, it's all up with me! I can't!"

"Take it quiet, sir. Keep cool, or you will never do it—don't hagitate yourself but, for, God's sake, look sharp. I'm a cracking."

"Don't move, Stokes—as you are a man, don't move! If you were to drop, I cannot imagine what would become of me. It will be all right in a minute."

"Make it less, if you can," groaned Stokes; all the blood's got into my head, orful. O, lor, what is to be done? Are you out sir?"

"No, I'm not; I'm fixed, Stokes I'm a dead man if you move; I am, indeed."

Stokes burst into tears, and howled with all his might; but Mr. Rowley shouted a great deal, and swore a great deal, too. Stokes would have run for it probably, for he was succumbing fast to the dead weight above him, had not Mr. Rowley held him by the, throat with his boots, and fixed him, too. In another moment I had sprung to my feet, and was rushing to the rescue.

"I'm really very sorry, Mr. Rowley; can I be of any assistance?"

"Assistance! You—you—young dev—! Yes, you can, my dear child. Run for a ladder and a saw, or something as quick as lightning, to the house."

"Hi—hi—'ollo!" shrieked Stokes, as I prepared to obey. Mr. Rowley's commands. "Don't run—come here and let me run, or bust up I must!" O, lor, Master Huskisson, don't leave me any longer—do come and take a turn. He's not so heavy when you're used to him; he isn't, indeed."

I saw the necessity of advancing to the rescue at once, and so did Mr. Rowley. I was tall for my age, and tolerably strong, and I hastened to take the place of Mr. Stokes, which I did with great caution on all sides. Behold me at last bearing the guardian of Clara on my shoulders, and feeling terribly the weight of my responsibility as he stood with his face to the tree, still exercising his ingenuity to get his hand out of the trap.

"I hope I'm not too heavy for you, Master Huskisson," he condescended to say politely, for the sight of me was even pleasant to witness.

"Not at all," was my cheerful answer. "You'll make yourself as light as you can to oblige me, perhaps?"

I had not quite done growing, and man is fragile during that process. Mr. Rowley was very heavy, and Stokes was wrong in his assertion—wickedly wrong.

"This is all your fault, mind you, Huskisson. This might have been my death," he said, reproachfully.

"Yes, Mr. Rowley, if I hadn't been in the way," was my happy rejoinder.

"Ah, but"—he looked around with difficulty, and found Stokes still there, making every human effort to straighten his back before flying on his mission.

"Curse it, Stokes, run for your life! Don't stand there, you wretched lunatic, another instant!"

Stokes ran away, and I was left as the one support of Mr. Rowley. Stokes had not been gone more than a minute and a half when I wished that he had remained and shared the weight with me. I tried to keep firm, but the difficulty was immense.

"Boy, you're giving! Don't shake so. Keep yourself more against the tree," Mr. Rowley called down.

"All right, I'll do it for Clara's sake, if it's possible; but if I snap—"

Then I remembered that he had called me a whipper-snapper, and so did he, too I think, and was sorry.

"O, you'll keep up," he said, offering me every encouragement in his power. "You're a big boy, for seventeen, and I am only nine stone ten—not a great weight. I've seen people in the circus do this kind of thing for hours, you know."

It was a gross exaggeration, and I felt it to be one. I was getting faint, also. I had undertaken too much, and his language at times was still violent, as he endeavored to extricate his hand.

"If I should die, sir," I said feebly, "will you please give my love to Clara? Tell her I did all I could to bear up—and to bear you up. O, dear! Did you say nine stone ten?"

"I did."

"I should have thought you had been ninety," I murmured.

"You're giving!" he roared again with a vehemence that revived me. "Keep up a little longer, my dear boy, I can hear them coming in the distance," which was another falsehood; but no matter. Mr. Rowley was not a truthful man. I sat myself firmly against the tree, according to his instructions; but it was of no avail. My heels, in a few more minutes, would slide gracefully away from under me, I was certain, and the guardian of my Clara would be swinging about by one arm, like an early Christian martyr. His blood would be on my head, and so would he, if he came down with his whole weight—perhaps armless—on top of me.

"Keep up!" he cried, in a great fright now. "You shall see Clara when you like, my boy. I will not say a word against the match any more. You're a fine, strapping, brave fellow, that you are—a young Hercules!"

"Thank you, Mr. Rowley," I answered and his words did sustain me a little, and helped me to sustain him.

But I was sliding slowly but surely from under his feet when assistance arrived—men with ladders and saws and chisels; Clara, too, wild with fright, and with tears streaming down her cheeks.

"O, my poor Gardy," she cried. "O, you wicked Alphonse! It's all your dreadful fault."

This was the last feather on the camel's back. I fell forward, and a grand rush of the servants at Mr. Rowley's legs only saved the guardian from summary dislocation on the spot. He was got down with difficulty; and once down, he was not grateful.

"A pretty fool you have made of me," he said to Clara, as he walked away rubbing his wrist; "and a pretty pair of fools you and that boy are, too."

Still, after all, he was not so bad as I had expected to find him. He was a man who kept his word, and for that I have always respected old Rowley. Clara and I saw each other in a more rational manner. I went to the hall once or twice; she was at my house on my eighteenth birthday, at a little party which my mamma absurdly called "juvenile" in the invitations; and there Jack Edwards was too attentive to Clara, and raised a jealous demon in my breast.

I went to London shortly afterward. Clara and I were to be engaged when I "passed," if we were of the same mind, her guardian said. But we were not. While I was walking the hospitals a fellow in the tallow trade walked off with Clara, and I do not think she resisted in the least.

It was an excellent match, though he was forty-seven, and very stout. I went to the wedding, and returned thanks at the breakfast for the bridesmaids, one of whom has promised to be mine when I set up in business for myself.

IRON.

Five years ago, Illinois did not produce a ton of pig metal. Last year she made 65,000 tons.

Last year Missouri mined 268,800 tons of iron ore, and Michigan 910,984 tons.

Nearly one-third of the pig metal produced in the United States is made from Michigan ore.

Illinois, as a rail-producing State, is second only to Pennsylvania.

About 3,500 tons "black ore" are mined in Clay county, Indiana, every day, part of which is sent to St. Louis.

One mill in Wisconsin places that State fifth on the list of rail-producing States. It made 25,774 tons last year.

Michigan made nearly 100,000 tons of pig metal last year, against 900 tons in 1854.

The missouri ore companies are prepared to put 500,000 tons of ore in the market this year.

The manufacture of rails in this country has just doubled in the last six years.

THE Phœnix Register tells a pretty hard story about an Oswego county school teacher. This fellow was in the habit of sharpening his nails to a point so that he could make them meet in the ears of his scholars! When this was not sufficient, he pulled and twisted the ears of the children until his brutality was satisfied. One day, in an ungovernable rage, he pulled a boy's ear until, as he himself acknowledge, he felt it give way. The child went home, soon took to his bed, and in a few days died, in the opinion of the physician, from injuries thus received. Strangest of all, and showing an apathy inconceivable on the part of parents and school officials, instead of being arrested, and locked up to be tried for murder, the brute was continued in school.

A PHILADELPHIA letter to the Reading Times says: "The other day I saw Oliver Doud Byron, a man twenty-five years of age, passing along the street with an immense Cochin China hen under his arm. Four years ago he was call-boy and basket carrier at Ford's Theater in Baltimore; to-day he is earning $50,000 a year playing a melo-drama entitled 'Across the Continent.' He has carved his way unassisted, and is to-day worth not less than $120,000. I asked him what he was doing with that chicken. 'Ah,' said he, 'you ought to see my stock of poultry, it is as fine as any lord's; it's my weakness to raise chickens, and I sit by the hour, at times, to pet and make them love me.'"

AN organization for the promotion of the interests of tax-payers has been started in Philadelphia, known as the "Tax-payers' Union." It is chartered under a law of the State, and has already given evidence of its efficiency in virtually closing the liquor shops on Sunday. By its charter the organization is prohibited from retaining in its treasury any funds coming from fines and suits instituted by it, to be given by the executive committee to charitable objects. By one of the most gigantic detective operations on record, evidence has been secured sufficient to enable the Tax-payers' Union to press certain pending suits till the closing of liquor shops on Sunday is complete.

THE farmers in Maine find profit in selling their hay at $36 per ton and purchasing corn meal, which is worth double the value of the hay for feeding purposes.

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN

R. B. BARGER .....PROPRIETOR

W. W. BROWN,.....EDITOR

Terms: $2.00 Per Annum in Advance.

Wednesday Morning, April 10th, 1872.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

FOR GOVERNOR,

GEN. JOHN F. HARTRANFT,

Subject to the decision of the Republican State Convention.

☞ A complete file of the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN may always be found at the offices of GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., Advertising Agents, 40 and 41 Park Row, New York, who are authorized to represent us in that city.

—The charter election in Davenport, Iowa, resulted in the success of the Republican ticket by handsome majorities

THE RECONSTRUCTED SOUTH.—The Democratic leaders of North Carolina carry politics into society and into church. One of the greatest evils which distracts Southern society is the social ostracism which prevails. The rebel Democrats hate the Union and have taught their sons and daughters to hate those who tried to preserve it. They consider not the consequences of such teachings. Your correspondent was much amused some time ago, while attending a meeting in a town in a certain section of this State, to see the wife of a minister become indignant, shake her head, stamp her feet, and leave the church, because a Northern gentleman was called upon to lead in prayer. Another fanatical lady of Southern birth was heard to exclaim: "I never want to go to Heaven if Yankees and niggers go there." The more worthless class of Southern society are the young men whose parents once were wealthy, but who have lost their fortunes by the result of the war. We see them revelling in idleness, the patrons of bar-rooms, gambling saloons, and vice.—Correspondence Washington (D. C) Transcript.

NO SPEAKER F THE SENATE.

It will be observed from the proceedings of the Senate that body adjourned sine die at 11 M. to-day, without electing a Speaker. The parties being 16 to 16, with M'Clure voting for Mr. Strang, when the hour of twelve arrived, Mr. White called the order of the day, and that being to adjourn, the Speaker could not do otherwise than adjourn the Senate sine die. Mr. Rutan continues Speaker until after the second Tuesday of October, when his term of Senator expires. It will not make much difference to be without a Speaker, unless the Governor should resign or die. In that event the Senate would have to be reconvened and elect a Speaker to act as Governor. The Republicans now know the importance of electing men who will stick by the party, if they desire the success of Republican principles. If they do not, then let them elect Democrats at once, and we shall know where we stand. The Republicans have been nearly all winter in the minority in the Senate, notwithstanding that they had elected a clear majority. We hope the lesson of to-day will be remembered by them.—Harrisburg Telegraph April 4th.

HOW TO CONDUCT THE CAMPAIGN.

We are about to enter, says the State Journal, one of the most important political campaigns ever fought in this State, involving the election of a President, Governor, Auditor General, Supreme Judge, and the balance of power in the Legislature. It will require hard work and a large expenditure of money, provided the usual course of practice is pursued to which both parties have heretofore adhered in conducting these contests. namely of putting money into the hands of irresponsible and even dishonest parties for disbursement. For every dollar legitimately spent in conducting a political campaign, at least five are stolen or misapplied. This money is gathered from the salaries of office-holders and others who freely subscribe it, with the understanding that it is to be honestly applied. All who know any thing about such financiering understand the hocus-pocus by which such funds are wasted and absorbed in impractical ways, and we therefore propose as a remedy, that more attention is paid to the Republican press as an effective auxilliary in conducting campaigns, giving fair proportions of all political funds to such journals, instead of frittering them away on individuals who devote them to debauchery and drunkenness when they do not sink them to the bottom of their own pockets. Every State, city, borough and county committee will see the force of this suggestion. The circulation of Republican newspapers is the surest and most popular mode of conducting a successful political campaign. It is the only effective way to get the truth to the people, of presenting our principles advocating our cadidates. This can be done with less expense than allowing individuals to use money at their discretion, to disburse it for rum, or make-believe, they devote it to the purchase of votes. Such practices are degrading and disgraceful, and we hope they will be abandoned in the campaign before us.

For the REPUBLICAN.

"BY THEIR FRUITS YE SHALL KNOW THEM."

COL. W. W. BROWN:—I have been absent and otherwise engaged for sometime past, which has prevented me from criticising more fully the report of the County Commissioners and Auditors; but I intend to persue it at my leisure and endeavor to unravel this mystic ball of a hundred ends, and show, that all is not gold that glitters.

It is the duty, and the law so intended; that the Commissioners should "publish annually once a week for four successive weeks, &c., a full and accurate statement af all receipts and expenditures of the preceding year, &c. Such statement shall enumerate the respective sums paid by each township, within the County, and designate all sums expended, &c., together with such other items as may have a tendency to convey general information of the transactions of the preceding year." Have the Commissioners performed their duty under this law? We shall see.

The law, also, declares that "the Auditors of each county, any two of whom, when duly convened shall be a quoram, shall audit, settle and adjust the accounts of the Commissioners, Treasurer and Sheriff of the county, and make report thereof, &c., together with a statement of the balances due, &c., with full power to compel the attendance of witnesses, the production of papers, books," &c. And then declares that "the Report of the Auditors shall be filed among the records of the Court of Common Pleas of the respective county, and from the time of being so filed shall have the effect of a judgment against the real estate of the officer, who shall thereby appear to be indebted to the Commonwealth or County."

This is very plain sailing. The law, also, provides for the appointment of tax-collectors. The Assessors are to return the name of collectors. The Commisssioners appoint the collector of county rates and levies for each township, or district, who are to give security, &c., and then declares that "It shall be the duty of the Commissioners to file a certificate, under their hands and seal, in the office of the Prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas of the County, stating the amount due and unpaid by such collector, &c., which certificate shall, from such entry have the same operation and effect as a judgment of said Court, and executions may be issued in like manner as on judgments, for the amount remaining unpaid at any time after the entry aforesaid."

Then, the law makes it the duty "of the Clerk of the Commissioners to enter the names of the collectors and the amount of their respective Duplicates on the minutes, and to furnish the Treasurer with a copy thereof." And why does the law require this copy to be furnished to the Treasurer? The reason is given in the Act, viz: "All collectors of State and County taxes shall, upon the settlement of their accounts of taxes collected, make an oath or affirmation that they have made a true and just return of all monies by them collected for State and County taxes; and the several county Treasurers are hereby authorized and required to administer such oath or affirmation." &c.

And by the 47 section of the Act of the 15th of April, 1834, it is enacted, that "Every collector shall, within six weeks from the date of his warrant, pay all such monies as he may by that time have received, to the Treasurer of the proper county."&c. And again: "Every collector shall, within three months after receiving the corrected Duplicate, pay into the hands of the Treasurer of the proper county, the whole amount of the taxes charged and assessed in such duplicate, excepting such sum as the Commissioners may exonerate him from, on pain of being answerable for and charged with the whole balance."

Had these plain provisions of the law been complied with by the Commissioners and Treasurer, as it was the bounden duty of each to do, there would have been no necessity for the exhibit, as published in the Auditors Report, of the names of, and amounts due by, the "Defaulting collectors" from the year 1864 to 1871. If the Treasurer had administered the oath to the different collectors, as was his duty, when they were paying in the taxes to him, and at the different times so paid, that it was a "true and just return of all monies by them collected for State and County taxes," what would have been their answer? And particularly what would have been the answer of the Chairman of the Democratic Committee—D. F. Fortney, Esq—collector of State and County taxes, for the Borough of Bellefonte, for the year 1869, who is exhibited and published by the Commissioners as a defaulting collector? He styles himself a Lawyer, and should know the law pertaining to his collectorship. But it appears that he considers it a subsidy, given to him by the "Court House Ring," to enable him to "swing round the circle" as a Democratic pensioner, out of the people's taxes.

As this gentleman and a host of others were published in the Auditors Report as being "defaulting tax-collectors," hear what the law says, in regard to them. "If any person who has heretofore been, or hereafter shall be a collector of taxes, and shall have neglected, or refused to pay the Treasurer of the proper county within the time limited by law, all the sums of money which shall be due on his duplicate, &c., the Treasurer is hereby authorized and required to issue his warrant under his hand and seal, directed to the Sheriff of the proper county, commanding him to take the body and seize and secure all the estate real and personal of such defaulting collector," &c. If the Treasurer and Commissioners had performed their duty as the law required them, our county debt, (as is shown by their published statement,) would have been paid—a surplus in the Treasury, and usurious interest stopped—and no necessity for the levying of six mills tax on the dollar.

I remember, reading the notice of the Commissioners, signed by their Clerk, calling on the "defaulting collectors" to pay into the Treasury before last November Court, or, no per centage or exonorations would be allowed, and the debts collected. Yet I see in the last Auditors Report of January, 1872, the names of the same "defaulting collectors" published as being yet defaulting collectors. Was this a ruse in the Commissioners and their Clerk, to blind-fold the tax-payers? If not, why did they not perform what they promised towards their speculating favorites and tax-keeping collectors?

Having referred to the different provisions of the law, as I find them in Purdons Digest, and which I consider plain and easily understood as the Legislators intended they should be, (and only twisted and snarled by Lawyers and Judges in showing their learning) I will close this communication for the present. And as I pursue these strictures I will show that the Commissioners, Treasurer and Tax-collectors have disregarded their duty and the law, and that the published annual statement of the Commissioners and Auditors, is an attempt at financial mystification and deception.

CATO.

VERY GOOD, whoever got it up. Not long since a prominent Republican in the West made a speech in which he advocated very earnestly the renomination of General Grant. During his remarks he was interrupted by some person in the audience, who asked "how long since the speaker had abandoned the one term principle?" "Not long since," he replied; "the fact is I change my views as frequently as circumstances seem to require. For instance, when Pierce and Buchanan occupied the Presidential chair I was in favor of the one term principle; when Lincoln was President I was in favor of two terms; when Johnson got into the White House I was for one term again, and since Grant has filled the Presidency I have been compelled to change in favor of two terms again. To be plain, when we have a poor President I am a one term advocate, and when we have a good man like Lincoln or Grant I go for the two terms." He was not interrupted again.

VETERINARY Surgeons all over the country are recommending Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders for the following trouble in horses:—Loss of appetite, roughness of the hair, stoppage of bowels or water, thick water, coughs and colds, swelling of the glands, worms, horse ail, thick wind, and heaves.

A friend of ours who is chief clerk in the Governmental Dispensary, says that no medicine chest is now complete without Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. We always supposed it was prescribed by law; if it is not, it ought to be, for certainly there is nothing in the whole materia medica of so much importance to the soldier and the sailor as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

IF Democrats were dogs, says the Advertiser and Monitor, they might be willing to be held in the leash and then let slip like hounds in the chase by the Liberal Republican leaders. But they are not. They are men with the same feelings as ourselves and will not suffer themselves to be boxed up and afterwards let loose by one set of Republicans in order to defeat another. While Grant's opponent's look to the Democracy to furnish the majority of the votes to defeat him, they have virtually ignord that party in all their preliminary movements, and we very much mistake the spirit of the party if they submit to any such arrangement.

OMAHA held her election on Tuesday, the 2nd inst. The entire Republican ticket, with the exception of the Marshal and Police Judge, was elected.—Kimball, elected Marshal on the Democratic ticket, was at the last election elected Alderman as a "People's Republican." In view of the fact that Senator Tipton has just visited Omaha and made desperate efforts in behalf of the new departure, this does not look very bright for the "Liberals."

BEFORE condemning General Grant and his friends, would it not be well for his opponents to ask: "What pledge which he made to the people has he violated? Or what plank in the Republican platform on which he was elected has he repudiated, either by word or action? Or what policy has he attempted to enforce against the will of the people?"

THE Chicago Post must be credited with the following brief and pungent paragraphs:

—If Mr. Greeley is not a Free Trader he is the next thing to it. He is a free Tirader.

—H. G. wants the Republican party to go into history, in order that he may go into the White House.

—The French arms must have been good weapons. Schurz has proved that several thousand of them actually went off.

—Frank Blair asks as a conundrum, what is the worst infliction ever borne by an American citizen? It was the infliction his poor mother bore.

—The Cincinnati Commercial discusses Connecticut under the head of "No Side Issues." This is probably an argument against women in politics. If woman isn't a side-issue, Genesis is at a discount.

—A villain named Cooke, who shared Tweed's spoils, has come back to join Garvey in testifying against his chief—Tweed is in despair, and is more than ever of the opinion that, in a municipal feed, too many Cookes spoil the broth.

—The Sage of Chappaqua, in order to influence Connecticut, wrote a letter on the Cincinnati movement; but Connecticut went back on him, and now he wishes he had letter alone.

—The Labor Reformers threaten to kick Judge Davis overboard and take up Horace H. Day. In which case it would be all Day with Davis, and all Night with the Cincinnati movement.

IN The "Phrenological Journal" for April, we find an abundance of that which is pleasant to read and good to remember. For instance sketches and portraits of W. H. Aspinwall, the eminent merchant; Robert S. Candlish, D. D., successor of Dr. Chalmer's of Edinburgh; the Engineers of the Mt. Cenis Tunnel; besides admirable articles on Right and Wrong Views of Life; Respiration and its Apparatus; Inebriate Asylums; History of Photography in America; Homes of Famous Americans; Rocky Mountain Scenery; "Stitch in Time," or the Alabama Question; Early English Education, etc; finely illustrated. Price only 30 cts., or $3 a year. S. R. Wells, New York.

LATE RETURNS FROM THE ELECTION.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 5.—Full returns of the State election show a majority of 1,176 for Padleford, the Republican candidate for Governor, and 140 majority for Cutler, the Democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor.—Some scattering votes are not returned, and may possibly throw the election of Lieutenant Governor into the Republican Legislature. The remainder of the Republican State ticket has about 2,100 majority.

Summer Hill, Pa.

[From the American Lutheran.]

Mr. Editor:—I have just returned from the dedication of Zion's new Evangelical Lutheran church of Summer Hill, Cambria County, Pa. Summer Hill is a small village located on one of the table lands of the range of the Alleghenies, along the great Central R. R.

This was a high day for the people of that vicinity. The congregation is small or few in number, but the members are alive and full of energy, and have erected a church edifice which reflects great credit upon the pastor and his people. The building is 34x35 feet gotten up in a modern style. It cost some twenty-one hundred dollars. It has been neatly furnished by the enterprising efforts of some of the good sisters. The building is surmounted by a neat cupola, which contains a fine bell, to call the citizens together for worship on all proper occasions. On Dec. 24th, at 10½ o'clock, A. M., Bro Dimm of Philadelphia preached the dedicatory sermon to a crowded and attentive audience in his usual eloquent style; after which an effort was made to raise $700 to pay the remaining indebtedness of the chruch, and in a short time by a generous response upon the part of the people, the sum of $862,75 was subscribed.

When this was announced all hearts seemed glad, and we sang. "Praise God from whom all blessings flow," &c., and then we "retired from labor o refreshments.

Again in the evening the house was well filled with attentive hearers of the word, and a sermon preached by Rev H. Baker of Altoona.

This was a happy day for this little band, and no doubt will be long remembered by all who were present.

The Rev. A. J. Hartsock is pastor of this congregation and the charge of which it is a part. This good Brother has been laboring in this charge for about eighteen months, and has succeeded beyond our most sanguine expectations. They have about doubled their membership; trippled their life and activity, in all good works, and quadrupled their influence for good, in the entire vicinity. Bro. H is emphatically a working man, has a good deal of the spirit and energy of Dr. Martin Luther, the mighty Reformer! and indeed this is essential when we remember that Bro. H.'s field of labor is in the midst of Rome, where Roman Catholics abound, of the strictest kind, and where they have their schools of learning. The rise and progress of Lutheranism in the vicinity is causing the priests some uneasiness. Bro. H. thunders the truth on without fear or favor, and is destined, by God's grace to win.

The music discoursed to us upon this occasion was lead by the choir of Wilmore Church, and though the choir was composed of quite young people, yet the music was of a fine order.—There are, I believe, twe other church edifices in contemplation in this charge; which no doubt will be erected during the coming year. O, what a blessing it is to have a live preacher and a live people; it throws life into the whole community.

May God bless Brother Hartsock and his dear people, and make them still more useful in building up the interest of Christ's kingdom.

To God be all the glory. Amen.

MURDER.

A MURDER COMMITTED IN UNION COUNTY THIRTY YEARS AGO—CONFESSION OF ONE OF THE MURDERERS—A DROVER FROM BERKS COUNTY THE VICTIM.

The Lewisburg Journal contains the following account of a murder committed in Union county thirty years ago:

No doubt many of our readers will remember a rumor which was in circulation some thirty years ago that a man traveling on horse-back through Penn's Valley Narrows had been foully dealt with. The rumor was based upon the fact that the body of a horse was found some twenty rods from the pike, which had apparantly been knocked down with a cudgel and killed. The horse was found several days after he was killed by some boys who were out gunning. Other circumstances connected with the affair caused a great deal of excitment in the neighborhood.

Within the last few days, rumor has it that a certain man who moved to the west from the upper end of the county many years since, had lately died, and had confessed at his dying hour that he was one of the party who had committed the Penn's Valley Narrows murder, some thirty years ago, and had implicated three others. That they plaved cards (with the man they afterwards killed) at a tavern this side of the Narrows, and there discovered that he had a large amount of money, being a drover from Berks county; that they at once laid a plan to kill and rob him; that they followed him through the Narrows to the place near where the horse was found, and killed him and the horse. After the horse was discovered they moved the man's body and sank it in a mill dam, and when the matter was talked of, and the citizens determined to let the water out of the dam, he and other parties implicated let out the water on the previous night, and took the body and carried it several miles away toward Brush Valley Narrows, and buried it, and were the first on ground the following morning to help search.

FOUR CALVES AT BIRTH.—A small Ayrshire cow belonging to a Scotch clergyman, Rev. Mr. Myers, of Berwick, about eight years old, lately gave birth to four calves when within a fortnight of her expected time to calve, all perfectly developed and without defect. The first was a bull, the rest heifers: the first, third and fourth were stillborn, and weighed respectively 25, 56 and thirty lbs. The second was lively and vigorous, and promises to live, and the dam was recovering rapidly. She had never before dropped but one calf at a birth. Her present progeny were sired by a Short Horn bull; and, in common with Mr. Myers' other cows, she had range in summer of one the richest old pasture fields in the county, to which a dressing of bone meal was applied last spring.—Country Gentleman.

A LOVING couple went to a Virginia minister to have the knot tied, but found their united cash account to be but twenty-five cents. The minister refused to perform the cermony without the full fee. As the depressed pair were turning away a happy thought seemed to strike the forlorn maiden, and she turned and cried through her tears, "Please, sir, if you can't marry us full, won't you marry us twenty-five cents' worth? We can come for the rest some other time. This was to much for the parson. He married them "full up," and they went their way rejoicing

A GEOLOGIST who has been studying the rock sculptures found in different parts of Ohio, thinks them indicative of something higher than the present symbolical or picture writing of the Indians. He finds that they have many characters in common with the Oriental sign writing or hieroglyphic alphabets, and specially notes the resemblance to a bird-track character which was used by the Chinese in their syllable alphabet some eight centuries before Christ.

IT is not generally known that oysters and clams can see. It is however, the fact. They have not regularly constructed eyes which give distinct impressions of objects on a retina, but they have floating nerve filaments ranged among the gill fringers, that give them a sense of light. They are rudimental optics, but sufficient for all the purposes of these very humble animal forms.

A NASHVILLE paper tells of two lovers who provided themselves with licenses and ministers and went on the same night to the house of their sweetheart. She didn't know which one she wanted Her father dismissed one, and her brothers ran the other off with a broom stick.

Hoofland's German Bitters.

A Bitters without Alcohol or Spirits of any kind.

Is different from all others. It is composed of the pure Juices, or VITAL PRINCIPLE OF ROOTS, HERBS, and BARKS, (or, as medically termed, Extracts,) the worthless or inert portions of the ingredients not being used. Therefore in one Bottle of this Bitters there is contained as much medicinal virtue as will be found in several gallons or ordinary mixtures. The Roots, &c., used in this Bitters are grown in Germany, their vital principles extracted in that country by a scientific Chemist, and forwarded to the manufactory in this city, when they compounded and bottled. Containing no spirituous ingredients, this Bitters is free from the objections urged against all others: no desire for stimulants can be induced from their use, they cannot make drunkards, and cannot under any circumstances, have any but a beneficial effect.

Hoofland's German Tonic.

Was compounded for those not inclined to extreme bitters, and is intended for use in cases when some alcoholic stimulant is required in connection with the Tonic properties of the Bitters. Each bottle of the tonic contains one bottle of the Bitters, combined with pure SANTA CRUZ RUM, and flavored in such a manner that the extreme bitterness of the bitters is overcome forming a preparation highly agreeable and pleasant to the palate, and containing the medicinal virtues of the Bitters. The price of the Tonic is $1,50 per Bottle, which many persons think too high. They must take into consideration that the stimulant used is guaranteed to be of a pure quality. A poor article could be furnished at a cheaper price, but is it not better to pay a little more and have a good article! A medicinal preparation should contain none but the best ingredients; and they who expect to obtain a cheap compound, and be benefittad by it, will most certainly be cheated.

HON. GEORGE W. WOODWARD, formerly Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania at present Member of Congress from Pennsylvania, writes:

PHILADELPHIA, March 16, 1871.

I find "Hoofland's German Bitters" is a good tonic, useful in diseases of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in case of debility and want of nervous action in the system. Yours, truly,
GEO. W. WOODWARD.

HON. JAS. THOMPSON, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania,

PHILADELPHIA, April 28, 1867.

I consider "Hoofland's German Bitters" a valuable medicine in case of attacks of indigestion or Dyspepsia. I can certify this from my own experience of it.
Yours, with respect, JAS. THOMPSON.

HON. GEORGE SHARSWOOD, Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, June 1, 1868.

I have found by experience that "Hoofland's German Bitters" is a very good tonic, relieving dyspeptic symptoms almost directly.
GEORGE SHARSWOOD

HON. JAS. M. WOOD, Ex-Mayor of Williamsport, Pa.

I take great pleasure in recommending "Hoofland's German Tonic" to any one who may be afflicted with Dyspepsia. I had the Dyspepsia so badly it was impossible to keep any food on my stomach, and I became so weak, as not to be able to walk half a mile. Two bottles of Tonic effected a perfect cure. JAMES M. DR. HOOFLAND'S
PODOPHYLLIN,
Or Substitue for Mercury Pills.
TWO PILLS A DOSE.
The Most Powerful, Yet Innocent Vegetable Cathartic Known.

It is not necessary to take a handful of these Pills to produce the desired effect; two of them act quickly and powerfully, cleansing the Liver, Stomach and Bowels all impurities. The principal ingredient is Podophyllin, or the Alcoholic Extract of Mandrake, which is by many times more powerful, acting and searching than the Mandrake itself. Its peculiar action is upon the Liver, cleaning it specially from all obstructions, with all the power of Mercury, yet free from the injurious results attached to the use of that mineral.

For all diseases, in which the use of a cathartic is indicated, these pills will give entire satisfaction in every case. They NEVER FAIL.

In cases of Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia and extreme costiveness, Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters or Tonic should be used in connection with the Pills. The tonic effect of the Bitters or Tonic builds up the system. The Bitters or Tonic purifies the Blood, strengthens the Nerves, REGULATES the Liver, and gives strength, energy and vigor.

Keep your Bowels active with the Pills, and tone up the system with Bitters or Tonic, and no disease can retain a hold, or ever assail you.

Recollect that it is DR. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN REMEDIES that are so universally used and highly recommended; and do not allow the Druggist to induce you to take anything else that he may say is just as good, because he makes a larger profit on it. These Remedies will be sent by Express to any locality, upon application to the PRINCIPAL OFFICE, at the GERMAN MEDICINE STORE, 631 Arch St., Philadelphia.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Coughs, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so wide and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to cold and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgements we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remidies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either residence in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the Ague Cure daily

For Liver Complaints, arise from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

A Singular Revenge.

The Troy Times says: About forty years ago there resided in the town of Jackson, Washington county, a well-to-do farmer by the name of Ferguson. He was industrious and frugal, but after a time became addicted to the use of intoxicating drinks, and when under the influence of his favorite beverage would be liberal to such an extent that he would give away any property which might be at his disposal at the time. Fearing that he would thus squander all his effects, a commission was obtained and the property placed in the hands of his son. When the papers were served on the old man he remarked, "You have taken my property from me, have you, and are obliged to support and take care of me? Well, then, take care of me?" He immediately took to his bed and continued to remain there, day and night, for twenty years. For the first few years he would get up and shave himself every Saturday, and then immediately take to his bed again, but for the last fifteen years of his life he was waited upon as an infant, notwithstanding he enjoyed good health and was in possession of all his faculties, mental and physical. The correspondent who sends us the above vouches for its literal truth.

THE VITAL QUESTIONS ANSWERED.—Can chronic indigestion be cured? Is a bilious habit controlable? When the nerves are shattered, are they susceptible of complete and permanent renovation! Yes—emphatically yes! The specific required is either Hoofland's German Bitters, or Hoofland's German Tonic. One or the other is guaranteed to effect the desired object. No diffusive stimulant is present in the Bitters, but the Tonic is fortified with finest old Santa Cruz Rum. Otherwise they are the same. Sold by all Druggists.

THE first detachment of Catholic missionaries who are to be sent by Archbishop Manning to work among the negroes of the South, has arrived and commenced operations. About 2,500 priests are to be sent to this country for that purpose, and when it is considered how successful the Catholic missions always are, and how peculiarly fitted that religion is to attract the attention and engage the minds of the blacks, it will be seen that the protestants have need to pay attention to this field.

THE New York Sun backs down gracefully on Thursday and yields to the Grant column, as follows:

The election in New Hampshire has settled two things. It has removed the faintest shadow of a doubt as to Grant's re-nomination at Philadelphia, and it has proved that the Democratic party, acting by itself and according to its old ideas, has not the ghost of a chance for carrying the Presidential election.

THE Denver and Rio Grande narrow gauge railroad, the first one built in this country, makes a very good show of earnings, which, it is claimed, are equal to the earnings of many broad guage roads costing twice as much. Forty-two miles more will be in running order by the middle of April, making a total length of one hundred and eighteen miles.

A CLEVELAND man knows how to enjoy all the comforts of a home. When he sees a book peddler or a sewing machine man in front of his house he touches up his face with a box of water-colors, in imitation of small-pox pustules, goes to the front door, and then laughs to see the callers try to break their necks in getting over the gate and fence.

How lovely Carl Schurz has become. Even Bratton, of the Carlisle Volunteer praises him. Eleven years ago when the German orator stumped the State, he was berated by the Democratic press as a "Dutch infidel and fugitive from justice;" now he is beslobbered as a philosopher and patriot. Men change, principles never.—Journal.

IT is well said by the Cincinnati Times that the Republican party is of incalculably higher consequence than any individual Republican. Therefore, those who are trying to break it over the head of Gen. Grant, to gratify mere personal hostility, are doing a foolish and criminal thing.

SLOW.—This is leap year, nevertheless the marriage notices come in very slowly. Girls what do you mean? Three months of the year have passed and you single yet! Remember you have the right to "pop the question" to your bashful lovers, this year.

"What have you to remark, madam, about my singing?" said a gentleman to a lady, "Nothing, sir." replied she lady, "it is not remarkable."

At the present ratio of increase in the population of the United States, we shall number 50,000,000 and over in the year 1880.

WHEN tea was first introduced into England it was a costly article, being sold at the modest sum of $15 per pound.

THE average cost of railroads in the United States to this time is set down at $44,225 per mile.

"IT (the New Hampshire election) is a confirmation of the certainty of Grant's re-nomination."—N. Y. World.

THE WEEK,

A RESUME OF CURRENT OPINION, HOME AND FOREIGN.

THE WEEK fills a place unoccupied hitherto in American journalism, though its importance has long ago been demonstrated in England. From week to week it presents the cream of home and foreign journalism, and gathers from the leading papers of America and England, and of all sections and parties, the most important utterances on current questions of Politics, Society, Religion, Literature, Science, Art, Music, the Drama, and all other topics likely to interest the reader. In addition to the longer articles, which themselves cover every variety of subject, there is Literary Gossip, Science and Art Gossip, Musical and Dramatic Gossip, and General Notes and News, giving the freshest and most copious intelligence in all these departments. In no other paper can be found so large and so various an amount of instructive and entertaining reading matter.

The first No. of THE WEEK was published on December 2d of last year, and in the short space of two months has achieved a most decided and flattering success. No paper has ever received more cordial words from the press and the critics, and it is the general testimony that The Week has met an important and well-defined want in the journalism of America.

Read what the Press says.

THE WEEK is the title of a new paper which bids fair to fill a void in New York journalism. It is filled with a selection of the more noticeable articles of the various daily papers—not editorial merely, but extracts also from news and correspondence. Thus at a glance the busy man who has had no leisure to see more than one, if any, daily paper during the week, gets the cream of the entire newspaper literature—not the metropolitan only, but of other cities, and to some extent of foreign capitals also.—Brooklyn Eagle.

THE WEEK is a newspaper which ought to take a permanent place in American journalism. Possessed of it the reader will find that he can dispense with most other journals and still keep abreast of the most enlightened current opinion on Politics, Society, Religion, Art, Music, and the Drama, and the like.—Springfield Republican.

THE WEEK is the title of a new paper whose idea we like. The selections are well made, and we hope THE WEEK will find abundant patronage.—Independent.

It's success ought not to be a matter of doubt.—Chicago Journal.

THE WEEK is a 16 page paper of large size, with three broad columns to the page, and is neatly and tastefully printed.

TERMS—$3 a year; single copy 8 cents. Trial subscription, 4 consecutive numbers for 25 cents. Address "THE WEEK,"

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN

BELLEFONTE, PA.

Wednesday Morning, April 10th, 1872.

REMOVED.—After April 1st, 1872, the Boot Shoe and Leather Store of Graham & Son, will be found on Bishop St., next door to Keller's Store, where they will keep the largest stock of Boots Shoes and Leather in town. 13-4t.

LOOKING lovely, our Bellefonte feminine genders.

GREAT sensation at the mammoth store of Emil Joseph & Bro.

ZELLER & JARRETT have removed their Drug Store to No. 6, Brockerhoff Row.

IF you would save money, deal only with those who advertise in the REPUBLICAN.

HAS the wheat crop in this county been injured by the winter? Who will inform us?

SPONGES from five cents to two dollars, Sponge pads, Turkish gloves and towels, at Green's.

WILL we have a flood? Will the lumbermen get their timber, &c., to market this spring?

WANTED.—We want one thousand new advance paying subscribers to the Bellefonte REPUBLICAN.

A. B. JACK, will lecture in Reynold's Hall, April 25th, for the benefit of the Logan Fire Company, No. 1.

NEXT WEEK we will commence the publication of Senator Scott's great Tariff Speech. It should be read by every man in the nation.

RAIN, it rained on Sunday, gave us a few showers on Monday, and a fine continuous rain on Monday night and Tuesday morning. No flood yet.

OH! for a flood in the river. This will make money plenty and bring in a flood of greenbacks to the REPUBLICAN office. This is not a selfish wish. Certainly not.

THE robins, blue birds, black birds, crows, and other feathery Songsters have come again. How pleasant even the music of the crow sounds after such a long and dreary winter.

DENTISTRY.—Dr. S. Belford, desires us to state that he will remain in Bellefonte for three week's. Rooms over Linn & Wilsons, Drug Store. The Dr., is a first class Dentist and moreover, a very clever, good man.

COME AGAIN.—Mr. M. L. Leitzel the gentlemanly proprietor of the Potters Bank Hotel paid our Sanctum a visit yesterday. Mr. Leitzel is a clever, genial companion a first class landlord, as every person who knows, him or ever stopped at his house, will fully endorse. Come again Martin.

FIRE.—The dwelling house on the Oak Hall farm owned by Gen. Wm. H. Blair and occupied by Mr. Trees, was destroyed by fire on Monday night April 1st. The fire, it is supposed, originated from a defective flue. Mr. Trees lost all of his furniture. No Insurance. We are informed that the citizens of Harris twp, set to work at once, to make up his loss from their well filled purses. Such liberality cannot be too highly commended.

ALMOST A FIRE.—On last Saturday morning there was quite an excitement in and around the Grocery store of Jas. H. Lipton. On the 1st inst., Mr. Lipton moved his store into the new brick building, osposite the REPUBLICAN Office. He had just gotten everything well arranged and was doing a good business. Upon opening the store last Saturday morning, the floor near the stove was discovered on fire. It had burned or charred through from the cellar. Everything in the cellar was consumed or rendered worthless. The fire originated in the cellar and had been burning, no doubt, the greater part of the night. The absence of air is all that saved the building. It is supposed the cellar had been entered, via the Messrs Blanchard's cellar, by thieves, who evidently broke through to steal and not to burn. It was a narrow escape for Mr. Lipton.

ACCIDENT.—On Monday morning last, James Bland, met with a serious accident, and was only, as it appears to us, miraculously saved from a sudden and terrible death. The facts as near as we could learn them, are as follews: The Snow Shoe train was shitting cars and among others run the new car of Messrs. Shortlidge & Co., on the siding leading to their Lime Kilns. It was put on the siding with a speed equal to about 20 miles an hour. Mr. Bland was acting as brakman and did his best to stop the car; but on it went until it reached the end of the track, when it capsized and smashed the box all to pieces, Mr. Bland jumped off, into the old canal below, a distance of about 15 feet, but the car capsizing, followed him, and fell upon, or rather over him, one corner of the car resting upon an old stump How lucky it was for James that the old stump was there. His foot was cut and his shoulder bruised. He is able to be about.

BECKIE E. DOWNING.

COFFINS of all styles and prices, at O'Bryan's, and funerals attended with an Ellegant hearse.

MILESBURG.—Milesburg is coming up. The Borough limits have been extended, taking in an area of over 500 acres. She has swallowed up Central City, and now talks of a further extension, taking in our beautiful village, Bellefonte. In that event the REPUBLICAN will be published in Milesburg. The citizens of Milesburg have secured the passage of an Act of the Legislature, authorizing them to borrow, we think, the sum of thirty thousand dollars. This sum they now propose to loan, for five years, without interest, to any enterprising company that will start a Cotton Manufactory in that place. There is no better location for manufactories of all kinds in the U. S. We understand that during the summer, a large Furnace, Forge and Rolling Mill will be erected, and it is also, stated that one of the wealthiest men in Clinton county, comtemplates the erection of a large Woolen factory. Let Bellefonte look to her laurels. Let our old fogies wake up, and arouse from their terrible lethargy.

FOR a prime Havana Cigar, go to Zeller & Jarrett's Drug Store. No. 6, Brockerhoff Row.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, April 6, '72.

The bill, making the endowment of this College, five hundred thousand dollars, having passed the Senate and the House of Representatives, without a single dissenting vote, we observed yesterday as a holiday. Nothing very extraordinary took place during the day.

In the evening we met in the chapel, which was beautifully decorated. Not only with paintings and mottoes, trimed with evergreens; but, also, with quite a large number of the ladies of our vicinity, where we had a regale. After which we adjourned to the Refectory, where refreshments were served, and we had a good time, until ten o'clock, when the Long meter doxology was sung, and the boys went home with their girls.

During a game of Base Ball to-day, Mr. Bruner, caught a ball, hot from the bat, in his mouth. He eats spoon victuals now. Mr. Harvey, from near Bellefonte, made the College a present of a patent folding gate.

ONE OF THE BOYS.

FOR sore throat, use Green's Chlorate of Potash lozenges, pleasant, safe and sure.

NEW BUILDINGS.—We are credibly informed that several handsome buildings will be erected in Bellefonte the coming Summer. This will lead no doubt to several interviews with our School Directors, for the purpose of selling to them the dirt and debris at so much per yard or cart load, for filling up the ground around the Public School Building. We would suggest the propriety of the School Directors granting these parties permission to dump their carts on the school grounds; but not "one cent for tribute." Let them dump it there free of charge or make them haul it some where else. We have had enough of paying for dirt that parties would be glad to give away.

DO NOT, forget J. Brant Hahn's, great Store and low prices in Milesburg, Pa.

BEAUTIFUL.—One of the finest specimens of painting we have ever seen, was done by W. W. Sharpless, of this place. It can be seen by calling at the Engine house of the Undine Fire Co. Mr. Sharpless painted the Engine belonging to this excellent company., and it is without exaggeration a master piece. Mr. Sharpless is a first class painter, and it is right that the public should be appriesd of this fact.

WANTED.—A situation by an experienced salesman, understands Book-keeping, capable of taking charge of a store, can come well recommended. Apply at this office.

MORTON'S Gold Pens, the best in market, for sale only by J. Welch & Co., opposite the Bush House.

[For the REPUBLICAN.]

MESSRS EDITORS:—A DASTARDLY ATTEMPT TO CONSUME AN AGED COUPLE AND THEIR DAUGHTER;—On Saturday morning last, between 1 and 2 o'clock, the dwelling of our esteemed citizen, Richard Catlow, Esq., was fired in two places, and the horrible result thwarted as follows:

About 1 o'clock Mrs. C., was awakened by a noise and light, and presuming that her daughter had left her room for some purpose called to her once or twice, and received an answer that she was in her room and in bed. They immediately arose and discovered the stairs which led into the kitchen on fire. They ran down and threw the pine fagots, with which the fire had been kindled on the stove, and threw water on the stairs, with a happy result, and upon looking into the front room, discovered another light, they hastened in and discouered the front stairs all ablaze, the kindling burning rapidly and the carpet saturated with coal oil. The alarm was given and soon all was quiet. A few more minutes and those human beings, in all probability would have been naught but charred, blackened corpses. We did not think before that there breathed a man in our community, so lost to all feelings of humanity, so wicked at heart, so deserving a home amid devils incarnate as we are now forced to acknowledge. May retribution, swift and sure follow the perpetrator of this murderous attempt.

UNIONVILLE, April 8, 1872. X.

IF you want furniture go to O'Bryan's, he is selling at cost.

ENTERPRISE.—It is with pleasure we direct the attention of our readers to the advertisement of J. Brant Hahn. of Milesburg, in an other column of the REPUBLICAN. Mr Hahn not many months ago was entirely burned out. He lost everything. But he did not dispair; but went to work with more determination and energy than ever, and the result is that he now opens the finest and best selected assortment of dry goods ever brought to Milesburg. He has Ladies dress goods in endless variety; Gentlemens clothing, Boots and Shoes, Hats and Caps, &c., &c., all of which he offers at from 15 to 20 per cent, cheaper than they can be purchased elsewhere. Mr. Hahn deserves the patronage of the public; because such enterprise, as he has proved himself to possess, is invaluable in the community. A few more men like Mr. Hahn, and Milesburg would soon outstrip her neighbors and rivals. We wish Mr. Hahn abundant success.

FOR a bottle of choice Perfumery, go to Zeller & Jarrett's Drug Store, No. 6, Brockerhoff Row.

NEW BOOK.—A new book containing nearly 600 pages, written by Mark Twain, showing how a three month's pleasure trip was extended to a term of seven years, and the causes thereof, with a relation of many both humorous and instructive incidents connected with the education of an innocent, is now published and offered for sale only by subscription. This book also contains a record of varied experiences of the author in various positions in life, while en route from that of a penniless American citizen to that of a millionair and back, to his original condition. It contains hundreds of characteristic engravings. Dyson Rishel, of Howard a young man of genteel manners and untiring perseverance is Agent for this county. May he meet with a hearty welcome, and sell a book in every house.

A FINE assortment of English and French Perfumery just received, at Green's.

BELLEFONTE & LEWISTOWN R. R.—The Engineers to survey and locate this road are at work in the mountains between this place and Lewistown and we are pleased to hear that the examination, thus far made, proves satisfactory. Their first work will be locating from the summit to Milroy or Reedsville, and afterwards from the summit to Bellefonte, if there should prove a necessity to change former locations on this side. The seven mountains are a serious barrier, but where there's a will there's a way, and now for the first time, we believe, this will is to be earnestly asserted.

HIS OWN HOOK.—Jno. Wolf, son of Wm. S. Wolf, has removed to Snow Shoe, where he has opened a large and extensive tin, stove and sheet iron store. He is a first class mechanic and the tinware offered by him, is of his own manufacture. Particular attention will be given to putting up spouting. The people of Snow Shoe and the lumber and coal regions should patronize John.

REPAIRING.—Our Young friend Frank Galbraith wishes us to inform the people of centre county that he has started in business, and is now prepared to repair watches, clocks & jewelry. He is a workman of ability and we doubt not will render general satisfaction. Room, second door below Sands Bakery, in the new clothing Store of A. Sternberg.

THE first 5 Numbers of present Volume of Scientific American are out of print.

All new subscriptions will commence from date of their receipt.

FURNITURE and Coffins made to order at O'Bryan's.

A GOOD RECIPE.—Here is a good recipe for making tattlers. Take a handful of weeds called Runabout, and the same quantity of the root called Nimble-tongue, a sprig of the herb called Back-bite (either before or after the dog days) a tablespoonful of Don't-you-tell-it, six drachms of Malice. a few drops of Envy, which can be purchased at the shops of Miss Tabitha Tea-Table or Miss Nancy Nightwalker. Stir them well together, and simmer them half an hour over the fire of Discontent kindled with a little Jealousy; then strain it through the rag of Misconception, cork it up in a bottle of Malevolence and hang it upon a skein of Street-Yarn; shake it occasionally for a few days, and will be fit for use. Let a few drops be taken before walking out, and the subject will be able to speak all manner of evil, and that continually.

FISHING materials of all kinds, at Green's, Drug Store.

TINWARE, &c.—It is with pleasure we refer our readers to the advertisement of Wm. S. Wolf & Son., in another column of the REPUBLICAN. Mr. Wolf is one of the oldest as well as one of the most reliable tinners in this country. He has been doing business for over 30 years in Bellefonte, and his reputation is therefore well established. He has taken into partnership, his son George who is a good mechanic and an energetic young man. They warrant all their work. They are also prepared to put up spouting in the most workman like manner, and upon short notice. Store on Allegheny, st, opposite the residence of Mrs. Jas. T. Hale.

FIRE.—On Friday last about 3 o'clock P. M. the dwelling house of Jno. McCartney in Curtin township was discovered to be on fire. The people rushed to the place to render assistance but they were too late. The fire-king had done his work, the house and all the furniture, except a stove and a few bed clothes were destroyed. Mr. McCartney is coaling in Snow Shoe for the Messrs Valentines, and was absent from home at the time of the fire. As he is struggling to pay for his farm, the loss falls the more heavely upon him. No insurance.

FURNITURE.—In another column of the REPUBLICAN will be seen the advertisement of Messrs Shroyer & Son. The Furniture Store of these gentlemen will be found in the corner room of the Bush House Block near the Depot. It is a large double room, nevertheless it is filled to over flowing with the choicest parlor sets, sofas, parlor chairs as well as cottage and other furniture very good and very low for cash. House keepers old and young take notice.

IOWA, NEBRASKA, KANSAS, CALIFORNIA.—Advertising alone does not produce success. The thing which is advertised must have intrinsic merit, or else large advertising will eventually do it more harm than good. If you have anything which you know to be good, advertise it thoroughly, and you will be sure to succeed; if it is poor, don't praise it, for people will soon discover you are lying.

Such is the policy of the BURLINGTON ROUTE, which runs to three great regions in the West: 1st, To Omaha, connecting with the great Pacific Roads. 2d, To Lincoln, the capital of Nebraska, and all that beautiful region south of the Platte, filled with R. R. lands and homesteads. 3d, To St. Joseph, Kansas City and all Kansas points.

The roads are splendidly built, have the best bridges, finest cars, the Miller platform and coupler, and the safety air brake (to prevent the loss of life that is every where else happening); Pullman's sleepers, Pullman dining cars, large and powerful engines (to make quick time and good connections), and are in a word the best equipped roads in the West. So that if you desire to go safely, surely, quickly and comfortably to any point in Southern Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, or on the Pacific Roads, be sure that you go "By Way of Burlington."

All who wish particular information, and a large map, showing correctly the Great West, and all its railroad connections, can obtain them, and any other knowledge, by addressing General Passenger Agent, B. & Mo. R. R. R., Burlington, Iowa. 14-3m.

Rev. D. S. Frost, Pastor of the Free Baptist Church, Jonesvile, Vermont, writes: "I had suffered for many years from Chronic Diarrhoea and Colic, becoming so much reduced that I was at times unable to attend to my ministerial duties. I had been treated by several physicians, both Allopathic and Homœpathic, but with no permanent results. While on a visit to Scranton, Penna., I experienced a very severe attack, and by the advice of some of my friends procured a bottle of MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS. The effect then produced gave promise of an ultimate cure, and on my return home I continued its use. I have taken six bottles and am cured. It is truly a valuable remedy."

EDITORIAL NOTICES are so common that it is almost impossible for an editor to express his honest opinion of the merits of any article without being suspected of interested motives. This fact, however, shall not deter us from saying what we think of a new addition to the Materia Medica to which our attention has been recently directed. We refer to DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS, a remedy which is making its way into more families just now than all the other advertised medicines put together. There seems to be no question about the potency of its tonic and alterative properties, while it possesses the great negative recommendation of containing neither alcohol nor mineral poison. That it is a specific for Indigestion, Billiousness, Constipation, and many complaints of nervous origin, we have reason to know; and we are assured on good authority that as a general invigorant, regulating and purifying medicine, it has no equal. It is stated that its ingredients, (obtained from the wilds of California,) are new to the medical world; and its extraordinary effects certainly warrant the conclusion that it is a compound of agents hitherto unknown. If popularity is any criterion, there can be no doubt of the efficiency of the VINEGAR BITTERS, for the sale of the article is immense and continually increasing.
